

GERIATRIC PSYCHIATRISTS

WORK ON VANCOUVER ISLAND

Positions in Victoria, Nanaimo, Parksville or Comox.

Island Health, Division of Geriatric Psychiatry has part-time and full-time opportunities for geriatric psychiatrists.

Renowned for its breathtaking natural beauty and mild climate, live on Vancouver Island for an undeniably satisfying quality of life. Few areas in the world can match the island's scope of outdoor activities. Enjoy winter skiing and year-round sailing, golfing and world-class sports fishing. Experience lush countryside, hiking trails, local wineries and breweries. With its strong local culture and vibrant arts scene, this is the perfect place to start your newest adventure.

The Division of Geriatric Psychiatry enjoys collegial relationships with Island Health Geriatric Medicine, Adult Psychiatry, Hospitalist, Nursing, Social Work and Occupational Therapy services. The successful candidate will provide consultation to patients and their families/caregivers, primary care physicians and fellow health care professionals in acute inpatient, outpatient and residential care settings. Patient population is generally over 65 years of age, but with psychiatric and/or cognitive challenges and indices of frailty. Your complex patients will also have access to acute and rehabilitation programs as part of an innovative island wide Geriatric Psychiatry -Tertiary Care program ensuring the highest quality of care.

Affiliation with the University of British Columbia's Island Medical Program provides an opportunity for teaching medical students and residents.

Participation in the local psychiatry on-call rotation is a requirement of all Department of Psychiatry positions.

Applicants must be eligible for certification with the RCPSC, for licensure with the CPSBC and for membership in the Canadian Association of Geriatric Psychiatry.

Sponsored site visits/interviews available as well as relocation assistance to successful candidates. Recruitment incentives may be available to successful candidates as per the Ministry of Health's Rural Recruitment Contingency Fund.

Contact us

Christal Lawson, Medical Staff Recruiter

E: christal.lawson@islandhealth.ca